

Support Questions for Parents and School Reading Volunteers

At All Saints, we know how important it is for teachers and parents to work together to give our children support in reading.

Reading together at home is one of the easiest but most important ways in which you can help your child. As you share books you are helping to improve your child's reading skills and also showing them how important and enjoyable reading is.

We have a diverse range of books to support your child's reading within the school, and we know this will enable your child to experience a range of authors and styles of books. In terms of reading, we want children to be able to:

- enjoy reading and see it as a pleasurable activity, as well as a means of following instructions and finding things out
- have the reading skills necessary to read a range of text types for pleasure and for information.
- be confident and competent readers
- have access to a range of reading experiences

Pause, Prompt and Praise

PAUSE to help them work out the new words,

PROMPT by using some of the techniques mentioned in this booklet,

PRAISE them for trying.

Success criteria:

Try to relate the story to its social, historical or cultural tradition.

Do you know any other stories like this?

Where is the story set?

How is the hero/heroine of this story similar to others you have read about?

What does the story remind you of?

Does the story remind you of something that has happened to you?

How would you have felt in that situation?

What might you have done instead?

What other stories have similar openings/endings to this one?

Many stories have messages, what is the message of this story?

Are there any familiar patterns that you notice? E.g. story structure, imagery.

Does the story make you want to find out anything else about the history, cultural, social area being discussed?

Success criteria:

What is the writer's purpose and viewpoint of writing the story?

Can you think of another story that has a similar theme?

Why does the author choose this setting?

What makes this a GOOD story?

What effect do you think the story has on the reader? Could the story be better? What would you suggest?

What impression does the author want to give of this character? Why?

What is the purpose of this paragraph?

What question would you like to ask the writer of the story?

Who is this advert trying to persuade?

Would you solve the problem in the story in a different way?

Do you think.....was right to?

Does the article/story try to get you to care about anything?

What can you tell about what the author thinks?

Top Tips for Reading at Home

- Keep sessions short
- Keep sessions relaxed - find a comfortable place where you and your child can settle down
- Give lots of praise, progress may not always be fast - children do not always find the skill of reading and understanding easy to grasp
- Talk about the book before you begin to read - look at the front cover, and the pictures (if any) and ask your child to think about or even guess what the book may be about.
- Ask questions to check your child's understanding e.g. What might happen next? Why did something happen?
- Talk about the book afterwards - did your child enjoy it? Why? What was the best bit?
- If your child struggles over a particular word, try to find ways to help them remember it e.g. by looking at the 'shape' of the word, or by guessing the word from the meaning of the sentence.
- Don't give up on the bedtime story, even if your child is a good reader. The more stories and books your child hears, the more they will want to read.
- Be a good model for your children - let them see you reading - anything and everything - newspapers, magazines, catalogues, books etc.etc. - let them know that reading is a valuable skill.
- Making up a story or telling them about when you were a child or something that happened to you at school - remember you don't always need a book to tell a good story.
- Taking it in turns to read parts of the story.
- Telling them one thing you really enjoy about listening to

Helpful questions to ask children when reading.

Success criteria:

I can understand, describe, select or retrieve information events or ideas from texts using quotations.

Where does the story take place

When did the story take place?

Can you describe the character's appearance?

Can you predict what the story may be about the title?

Where do the characters live?

Who are the main characters? What happened in the story?

Can you describe the problem in the story? How would you solve it?

Can you identify words that describe the setting or character

What happened after....?

Can you tell me why....?

Look at the picture of the character, how do you think they are feeling?

Why might this be?

Describe what happened at/when. What do you think will happen next?

Success criteria:

Explain and comment on the writer's use of language including grammar features.

What does (word/phrase) mean?

Which words has the author used to make the writing sound more formal/informal?

Why has the author used (italics, bold, exclamation marks, headings, bullet points, captions etc.)

What has the author used in the text to make the characters sound funny/sad/angry?

Think of another word you can use here. What different effect would your word have?

As a reader, how do you feel about this character? What makes you feel that way?

Can you find any similes/metaphors in the story?

Find some adjectives that help you picture the scene/character in your mind.

Find a sentence that encourages you to want to read more of the story.

Why has the author set out the text like this?

Success criteria:

Think about the structure and organisation of the text-what it looks like.

How do headings help you when you scan the text?

How does the layout help the reader?

How does the title of the story encourage you to read more?

How does the story blurb on the back cover encourage you to read the book?

What do you now want to find out after reading the blurb?

Some of the text is printed in a different way, why do you think the writer does this?

Why has the author repeated structures, words and phrases?

What is the purpose of the pictures?

What is the purpose of a caption?

Why did the author choose to change paragraphs here?

Why has the author used 'fact boxes' for key points?

What is the purpose of the chapter titles?

Which words tell you what order to follow?

Success criteria:

I can deduce, infer and understand information from the text that I am reading.

What does the word ... imply/make you think of?

If you were going to interview/ask a character a question, who would you ask and what would your question be?

What do you think will happen because of?

Through whose eyes is the story told?

Why do you think ... feels...?

If this was you, what would you do next?

How have the characters changed during the story?

Predict what you think is going to happen next. What makes you think this?

How do you know that...? (Deduce/Infer)

What does the main character feel at this point in the story? How do you know this-can you pick out a sentence?